

ALL EGGS ARE IN ONE BASKET, SAYS MR. TAFT

President Devotes Almost His Entire Message to Discussion of the Trust Question.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—President Taft's third annual message which goes to congress Tuesday will be devoted to the trust question. The message contains between five thousand and six thousand words and with the exception of reference to a few other subjects will deal with industrial combinations alone. Although details of the message are not public it is understood tonight that federal incorporation as outlined by Taft several years ago, is the suggested method of solution of the trust problem. The president indicated his aversion to amendment of the Sherman anti-trust act and from talks to callers, the inference is drawn that no suggestion of such amendment is made in the message. "I've put all my eggs in one basket," said Taft. Later he will send special messages to congress dealing with other important subjects. The president intends to discuss the tariff in messages written after December 12. The tariff board, it is said tonight, will not be able to make a report on the wool and cotton schedules until then. Conservation and development of Alaska will be treated later. The trust message was finally revised by the cabinet Monday.

HE'S IN JAIL.

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Nov. 28.—Peter Balonas, suspected of causing the death of George Condos, south of the city last night by hurling him from a train, remains here in jail. The coroner's inquest and date of arraignment have not been set.

THIS IS A NEW ONE.

Woman Killed Husband In Order to Save His Soul.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Mrs. Francis O'Shaughnessy, who reasoned that to save her unfaithful husband's soul she had to kill him, was cleared by a jury of all blame. The jury found her insane at the time of the shooting, and tomorrow counsel for the district attorney will ask alienists if she is now insane. According to their report, the court will give her her liberty or order her incarcerated in an asylum. The woman faced trial in full expectation of going to the electric chair. When she heard the verdict she fell insensible.

CALLS IT PIPE DREAM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Roosevelt, attending a play, was shown a synopsis of Wharton Barker's testimony at Washington today. He read the statement carefully and said: "It would be as well to discuss a pipe dream with a patient in Bedlam as discuss such nonsense." He would not add to his statement, only repeating it later with added emphasis, when pressed by other questioners for an additional expression.

PREMIER RESIGNS.

TEHERAN, Nov. 28.—The new premier, Samsan es Sultaneh today presented a cabinet to the national assembly, which refused to recognize it. The premier thereupon resigned. The crisis continues.

MURPHY AND WESTFALL BACK FROM PRESCOTT

WILL APPEAR BEFORE JUDGE CAMPBELL THIS MORNING.

Frank Westfall Said To Be On a Hunting Trip.

Sheriff Murphy of Logan county, Okla., who was arrested in Prescott Monday night on a warrant issued after charging him with irregularly taking J. B. Westfall out of the city, en route to Oklahoma, where he was wanted to answer a charge of violating the banking laws, was brought back from Prescott last night, accompanied by his prisoner, in the custody of a Phoenix deputy sheriff. The warrant for Murphy was issued at the instance of Westfall's attorney, A. C. Baker, and the purpose of it was to get the Oklahoma sheriff and his prisoner back into this county, where Westfall could be given the benefit of a hearing in habeas corpus proceedings. A writ directing that Westfall be brought before the court was issued at the same time the warrant was ordered by Judge Campbell, who is sitting on the bench in this district temporarily in the absence of Judge Kent. Murphy and his prisoner will both be brought before the court this morning.

Another interesting development of the Westfall cases yesterday was the announcement by their friends that Frank Westfall has not fled the country as reported, nor was he aware that an officer was here from Oklahoma in search of him. Mrs. Westfall, who was also reported as having dropped out of sight, was here yesterday and made no effort at concealment. Friends of Westfall stated that last Friday, on the advice of friends, Frank Westfall, who was in an abnormal nervous condition due to the recent notoriety of his troubles, went to the vicinity of Wickenburg with a man named Richards on a hunting trip, in the hope that the change would restore him materially. Yesterday word was sent to him of the latest turn in affairs and he was advised and requested to come back and face the situation, and if necessary return to Oklahoma and defend himself in the court.

REACH A COMPROMISE.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—Now that it is decided whether Madero or Governor Juarez of Oaxaca shall appoint the jefe politico of Juachitan, it seems certain the troublesome revolt in the state will end. The envoy of Madero arrived from a conference with Juarez today and said a son of the famous general insisted he appoint the officer in question and the request was granted. Madero appointed a man and Juarez threatened to have the state seceded unless the honor was bestowed upon him as the state executive.

BOTH LOST HEAVILY.

TRIPOLI, Nov. 28.—Italian military authorities announce casualties of the Italians in battle of Fort Mesri and Henni, Nov. 26, when the Italians forced Arabs and the Turks to retire with a loss of more than 500 men killed and 200 prisoners, totalling 250 of whom sixteen were killed.

WETS WIN VICTORY.

MIDDLETOWN, Cal., Nov. 28.—Many women cast ballots today in the local option election at Lower Lake. The wets scored a victory. The town has been dry one year.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY TRADES COUNCIL

Candidates Are Asked to Declare Themselves.

At a meeting of the Phoenix Trades Council held last night, the following resolutions were endorsed unanimously. They call upon all candidates for office to announce their attitude in respect of the issues involved: Whereas, I have been proposed that there be added to the election laws of the state of Arizona constitutional and statutory provisions whereby the people of the state may have an advisory vote on the federal judiciary the way of a recommendation to the president as to whom the people of Arizona desire to fill that office, and also an advisory recall by which they may request a federal judge, a United States senator or congressman to resign, and

Resolved, That we believe these provisions are just and right and will provide the people further means of self-government: Be it Resolved by the Phoenix Trades Council, That we emphatically endorse these proposals and request an immediate expression of opinion from the state candidates of all parties upon these extensions of the recall and direct primary, and particularly from all candidates for the state legislature from this district.

Resolved, That a special committee be appointed to communicate our request to such candidates at once and respectfully requesting a reply before election day.

Resolved, That these resolutions be sent to all trades councils and local trades unions in the territory requesting co-operation along the same lines, and all Phoenix locals are requested to take similar action.

OF LOCAL INTEREST

OFF FOR CHICAGO.—B. A. Fowler, president of the National Irrigation congress, expects to leave tonight for Chicago, to attend the annual session.

WILL COME FOR THANKSGIVING.—Mrs. B. G. Farver, nee Miss Brookie George, is expected to arrive here Thanksgiving morning from her home in Mexico City, on a visit to her father, Henry L. George.

BUFFALO VISITOR.—Robert M. Sikes of Buffalo, a friend of Roy W. Leecher, is a recent arrival and expects to spend the winter in Phoenix. Leecher and his friends are assisting the young men to be unemployed as to cowboys and bronco busting, are endeavoring to have more or less fun at his expense, but he persists in dodging the bait in a most exasperating way.

VISITING HEALTH OFFICER.—Dr. William Freeman Snow, secretary of the California state board of health, with headquarters in Sacramento, was a Phoenix visitor yesterday, together with Mrs. Snow. They are on the way to Havana, Cuba, where the doctor will attend a meeting of medical men. Though the doctor only had a few hours in Phoenix he said he was much impressed with this city and valley and believes it has a great future.

CHARTER COMMITTEE.—The committee engaged in the devising of a new charter for the city of Phoenix, held a meeting last night, that however was not fully attended. Some progress was made toward the adoption of a charter as a sort of a working model though that stage has not been arrived at. Members of the commission say that there will probably be no full session of the body again until after election as so many of them are greatly concerned in the campaign and cannot neglect it.

VISITING RABBI.—Congregation Emanuel, which has been without a pastor for a long time, expects to be favored next Sunday night with a sermon by Rev. Edward M. Chapman, who is now ministering to the Jewish congregation in Tucson. The service will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the Melezer hall. The service is designed to be especially for those of the Jewish faith. Rabbi Chapman is said to be a very interesting speaker and the officers of the congregation request that there be a full attendance.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LUKIN.—The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Lukin of Tempe, was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlors of Moore & McLehman, interment being made in the Jewish cemetery beside the grave of her late husband S. N. Lukin. The ceremony in the chapel was conducted by the members of the Macabee lodges of Phoenix and Tempe, while that at the grave was in Hebrew and was conducted by Harry Friedman and Selim Michelson. There was a large attendance of the friends of the family, from Tempe as well as from Phoenix. A pathetic feature of the case is that two little boys, aged 8 and 10 years respectively, now mourn the death of both their parents within a year and a half.

YUMA CANDIDATES.—A couple of husky republican candidates from Yuma county were in Phoenix yesterday en route to northern Yuma county, where they are going to pay their respects to the voting brethren. The candidates are Thomas D. Molloy, who would much rather be superior judge than to see Frank Baxter elected, and H. H. Donkersley, who cherishes the hope that he can beat the field for supervisor. The lay-over in Phoenix between trains was largely devoted to seeing the sights, but not solely so, for the reason that there is one duty a Yuma candidate always has to perform when he comes through Phoenix. That is to call officially on General Ingalls and solicit his vote, for the general always goes to his Yuma home to cast his ballot. Messrs. Molloy and Donkersley did their full duty.

WICKENBURG GREETED STATE CANDIDATES

CAMERON, WILLIAMS, JONES AND MAUK.

They Were Given Warm Welcome In Mining Towns.

Claude Decatur Jones, republican candidate for state superintendent of schools returned last night from Wickenburg where he went yesterday morning in company with Ralph Cameron, John S. Williams and George Mauk, candidates respectively for senator, representative and state auditor. The other gentlemen continued their journey north last night with Kingman as their destination.

Mr. Jones says that in his opinion yesterday was a notable day for the republican ticket in that part of the country. He says the party arriving in Wickenburg early immediately drove to Vulture mine where the candidates all met and shook hands with the miners at the noon hour, presenting their claims as best they could under the circumstances. They felt that a very good impression was made at Vulture.

Returning to Wickenburg they spent the rest of the day in meeting as many people as possible, personally and preparing for an early meeting in the evening. As the candidates had to catch the 8:45 train north the meeting was called at 7 o'clock in the evening and though the hour was very early the meeting place was well filled, and the assemblage was an enthusiastic one. John Withersley presided and all the gentlemen spoke. Mr. Jones says that the name of Cameron alone creates enthusiasm and that Williams in his address seemed to capture the audience completely. He added modestly that he really believed that Mr. Mauk and himself had spent a profitable day and that the returns on election day would prove that the time was not lost.

These men were at Buckeye Monday night where they held a round meeting and at Yuma last Saturday night they had a regular joyfest.

NO REPRIMAND.

It Was Just a "Harmonious Discussion," Say Officials.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Denying reports that Collector of Customs Stratton of San Francisco was peremptorily ordered to receive a reprimand by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis, it was today announced the reorganization of the San Francisco customs office was based on a "harmonious" discussion of administrative changes.

SHOCKS IN SONORA.

FOUND: A SOCIAL VALUE FOR THE AMBULANCE CHASER!

"Did the people of Austin appreciate their danger? If so, did they do anything about it? This is the question asked by Graham Romney Taylor in

The Survey.

"The panic in Austin when the dams partially failed in January, 1910, shows their alarm at that time, and there is evidence of a very definite recurrence of fear subsequently."

"Why was it, then, that no collective protest was made by the people of the community? The answer is perhaps sadder than the little processions which tracked the wet ground about the morgue. It shows a predominantly American community so saturated with dependence upon an outside power from which it drew its livelihood that its very instinct for self-preservation was inhibited. Nor has it so far recovered itself, under the sting of disaster, as to express an appreciable resentment toward those in whose power it was to do whatever might have been done to remove the danger. Two weeks after the catastrophe, not even a damage suit had been started! When a lawyer of distinction (not inexperienced in defending corporations from unwarranted claims) was told of the situation he exclaimed:

"Found: a social value for the ambulance chaser! What Austin has needed is a trainload of contingency lawyers!"

Advertising Talks

To The Readers Of The Republican

By JOHN IRVING ROMER, Editor of "Printer's Ink."

A comparatively new advertiser went to a more-experienced advertiser man some time ago, and said:

"Look here, I want you to tell me what's wrong with my advertising; I have not been getting the proper returns lately." And then he went on to show that though his advertisement was apparently straightforward and reasonable and the inquiries came in fair numbers, sales were very poor.

Detail by detail was carefully reviewed, and the experienced advertiser man could find no flaw. But that something was wrong was shown by the fact that up to a short time back the advertising had produced fair results.

Finally, after considerable questioning, the advertiser innocently dropped the remark that, though he had continued advertising that a sample would be sent free, he had run out of samples and was telling inquirers that he was no longer following the plan of giving out samples. In other words, he advertised that a sample would be given and then declined to give it, without a reason that was satisfactory to the reader.

"See here," said the experienced advertiser man, "did you really expect to go back on your word with inquirers, right at the opening of proceedings, and then expect them to have faith enough in you to send you an order? Never in the world! I advise you to make good on all those offers of samples and then withdraw the offer if you have to."

The advertiser hadn't suspected that his failure to keep his promise had anything to do with the matter. He forgot that inquirers didn't know him personally and would judge largely on his performances of his promises.

Contrast the action of a large advertiser in an eastern city the other day. Some $150 women's stockings were to be sold at 89 cents a pair, and in some way the price was put in the paper at 39 cents a pair. As the stockings were silk, there was a great rush, but the merchant instead of explaining that the figures were intended to be 89 cents, sold each inquirer one pair at the 39-cent price and courteously explained why more than one pair could not be sold at that rate. The store kept faith, despite the error and the loss, and it commands the confidence of its customers.

There was another big store once that, through being deceived itself in a lot of men's serge suits, sold the suits on the guarantee that they would hold their color. Discovering later that the suits would not hold their color, the store inserted an advertisement, asking every man who had bought to come in and get a different suit or his money back. It was not only good morals but the best kind of advertising.
